

Here is the test to find
whether or not
your mission
on earth is
finished: If you
are alive, it isn't.

~Richard Bach

Years ago, Sam Levinson was filled with joy and hope at the birth of his new granddaughter. One night he sat down and wrote a letter to her—something he hoped she would read again and again as she grew up and made her way through the world. He wrote, in part, “We leave you a tradition with a future. The tender loving care of human beings will never become obsolete. People, even more than things, have to be restored, renewed, revived, reclaimed, and redeemed and redeemed and redeemed. As you grow older you will discover that you have two hands—one for helping yourself and the other for helping others. Never throw anyone away.”

May God bless you with the foolishness to think that you can make a difference in the world, so that you will do the things which others tell you cannot be done. You have great days still ahead of you. May there be many of them.
